Ez 18:25-28 Ps 25:4-9 Phil 2:1-11 or 2:1-5 Mt 21:28-32FRANCISCAN MEDITATION*Do Good. Every day.

St Francis did not spend his life trying to look holy. He lived the Gospel. He fed the hungry. Embraced the leper. Served the poor. Repaired what was broken. Forgave. Gave away what he had. Chose the lesser place. Went where he was needed... The Gospel is not something you admire. It is something you live. You can talk about humility and still need to be noticed. Talk about love and still refuse the difficult person. Talk about God and still live entirely for yourself.

Franciscan spirituality brings us back to the ground. Do good. Serve someone. Make peace. Give something away. Forgive. Help the person in front of you. Leave the world a little less wounded than you found it.

A good life is not necessarily a successful, comfortable, or impressive life. It is a life that is given away for something greater than itself. It is choosing what is right when nobody is watching, loving people when it costs you, forgiving when you could hold a grudge, helping when you could walk past, and using whatever gifts you have to make someone else's life a little lighter. From a Franciscan perspective, a good life is not measured by how much you possess or how much people remember your name, but by how much love you leave behind.

To do good is more than being a nice person. It is choosing, again and again, to use your life for the good of another. It means noticing what needs to be done and doing it even when nobody applauds, thanks, or notices. For St Francis it meant 'do the good that is in front of you'. Start where you are. Don't wait for a grand opportunity to make a difference. Look at the people around you and ask: Who needs a kind word? Who needs forgiveness? Who needs my help? Then do one small good thing, quietly, generously, and without expecting anything in return. Let your faith become visible through your actions. You may never know how far one small act of goodness travels...
